

Natural Hair Growth

Healthy Hair from the Inside Out

Contents

1. Introduction
2. Understanding Your Type
3. The Foundation: Scalp Care
4. Step-by-Step Routine
5. Natural Remedies
6. Diet & Nutrition
7. Conclusion

The Journey

Natural hair growth isn't about "miracle products"—it's about consistency, health, and moisture. Most people struggle with growth not because their hair isn't growing, but because it's breaking off at the ends faster than it can grow from the roots.

This guide will teach you how to retain length and optimize your body's natural ability to grow healthy, strong hair.

KNOW YOUR HAIR

Understanding Your Type

Porosity: Your hair's ability to absorb moisture. Low porosity needs heat; high porosity needs sealing with heavy oils.

Elasticity: Healthy hair should stretch and return. If it snaps, it needs moisture. If it sags, it needs protein.

The Foundation: Scalp Care

A healthy scalp is like healthy soil for a plant. blood flow is essential for follicle health.

- Daily Massages: 5 minutes with fingertips to boost circulation.
- Exfoliation: Monthly brown sugar scrub to clear buildup.
- Cleanliness: Avoid clogging follicles with excess product.

DAILY CHECKLIST

Step-by-Step Routine

Morning: Light water mist + oil on the ends.

Night: Satin bonnet or silk pillowcase. No exceptions! Friction with cotton causes breakage and dryness.

Natural Remedies

The Protein Power Mask: 1 Egg + 1/2 Avocado + 1 tbsp Honey. apply for 20 mins, rinse with cool water.

Deep Moisture: 2 tbsp Coconut Oil + 1 tbsp Olive Oil + 1 tsp Aloe Vera.

Diet & Nutrition

What you put in your body is more important than what you put on your hair.

- Biotin: Eggs and almonds.
- Iron: Spinach and lentils.
- Omega-3: Flaxseeds and walnuts.

Patience is Power

Consistency is key. Love your hair at every stage of the journey!

© Daily Dollar Ebooks